

DESIGN & DEVELOPMENT

Polaris has created during the last 20 years a highly skilled design and development team who specialises in custom design concepts, trend analysis and fabric and trim sourcing.

Solely owned and independent department of experts

Polaris has a solely owned and independent department of experts who is responsible of pattern making and product development. Our strong team of European and Vietnamese Technicians are in our factories daily as well as in our offices, to assure the best quality final product.

We proudly own a large development and sampling center, which enables us to develop garments from scratch and to go through the whole fitting process with a very fast turnover time. This gives you the advantage of having the complete production expertise already at fitting stage - avoiding later problems during production and eliminating problems at the earliest possible stage.

Competitively priced - global service

As a fashion-forward company, we believe furnishing our customers with the tools to create an exclusive design is a vital part of our business. Polaris has employed the help of highly experienced designer from the USA, to develop special projects and whose expertise can create customized design presentations for individual collections. We are able to visit you and work with your designers directly as well as we always welcoming your team on site for quick design process and to find the best technical solutions.
